

Mechanical Plant MESTIL LLC is a service providing- production company that specializes in manufacturing of technically advanced services for many different branches of industry. Our experienced staff specializes in the following activities:

Manufacturing of complete machines based on client's documentation. Mechanics, automation, assembly at client's place all over the world

Production of pneumatic air shafts

The production of small and middle series of precise spare parts and subassemblies with the use of various machining (turning, grinding, milling, hardening)

Steel constructions in the scope tooling for machine production, technological appliances weighing 5 ton per a single appliance

The machining of spacious parts on a WHN boring machine e.g : machine bodies, plates with high grade accuracy. The weight of a single part is up to 12 ton

Relocation of factories and machines (disassembly, transportation, assembly)

The assembly of complete production installations

Participation in research activities as the execution entity and carrying out of the industrial research and development activities

We are looking for clients that have their own product and are seeking for support in production of the entire appliances, subassemblies, construction parts, with a high degree of makeover and of good quality.

Our clients:

